

The contents of each `.txt` file in this directory are merged together.

- alphabet is a sample for alphabet related items
- web is a sample for web/html related items
- expect is the main list of expected items -- there is nothing particularly special about the file name (beyond the extension which is important).

These terms are things which temporarily exist in the project, but which aren't necessarily words.

If something is a word that could come and go, it probably belongs in a dictionary.
