

When contributing to the Go issue tracker, please do not make comments like this:

+1

or

:+1:

or

Me too.

or

I too would like to see this issue fixed.

or

When is this issue going to be fixed?

Such comments do not help fix issues. In fact, they make it harder by cluttering the discussion. The project admins will delete such comments as a matter of procedure (please don't be offended if we delete yours).

Instead of commenting, you may add a :+1: reaction to the comment or issue.

Of course, please do comment if your "me too" comment includes information that might help resolve the issue. This includes reports like this:

This issue also affects me on Windows 10 when running all.bat at revision c0ff33.

(Although there's no need to make such a comment if an identical comment already exists.)

Thanks!
