

Supports the upgrade path from AngularJS to Angular, allowing components and services from both systems to be used in the same application.