

Documentation

The following block does not have a language attribute and should be ignored:

This is a fenced block without attributes, it's invalid and it should be ignored.

The following block should be given a js extension on extraction:

```
console.log("js");
```

The following block should be given a ts extension on extraction:

```
console.log("ts");
```

The following example contains the ignore attribute and will be ignored:

```
ts ignore const value: Invalid = "ignored";
```

The following example will trigger the type-checker to fail:

```
const a: string = 42;
```