

Resources

This directory contains utilities intended for use by tests and maintained as project infrastructure. It does not contain tests.

testharness.js

testharness.js is a framework for writing low-level tests of browser functionality in javascript. It provides a convenient API for making assertions and is intended to work for both simple synchronous tests, and tests of asynchronous behaviour.

Complete documentation is available in the docs/ directory of this repository and on the web at <https://web-platform-tests.org/writing-tests/>.