

This test checks if the side effects for loading Angular packages have changed using <https://github.com/filipesilva/check-side-effects>.

Running yarn test will check all ES modules listed in side-effects.json.

Running yarn update will update any changed side effects.

To add a new ES module to this test, add a new entry in side-effects.json.

Usually the ESM and FESM should have the same output, but retained objects that were renamed during the flattening step will leave behind a different name.
