

Bulma's `.icon` element has been around since its inception. It acts as a simple container for any icon font. And thanks to its fixed square dimensions, it provides the icon font time to load while preserving the space for it.

From version `0.9.2`, a new `.icon-text` element will be available. It allows you to easily combine an `.icon` element with text. The purpose of this new feature is to preserve the correct alignment of both parts.

Home

You can combine several icons in sequence:

Paris Budapest Bucharest Istanbul

See the full `.icon-text` documentation.