

manual visual regression tests

These are expensive tests that should only be consulted if you suspect that something changed. Move the test you want to check inside a temporary folder in `./test` and run the visual regression test suite to get a screenshot.