no-main-display

As of Ansible 2.8, Display should no longer be imported from __main__. Display is now a singleton and should be utilized like the following:

```
from ansible.utils.display import Display display = Display()
```

There is no longer a need to attempt from __main__ import display inside a try/except block.