Add the localize package

To take advantage of the localization features of Angular, use the Angular CLI to add the `@angular/localize` package to your project.

To add the `@angular/localize` package, use the following command to update the `package.json` and `polyfills.ts` files in your project.

For more information about `package.json` and `polyfill.ts` files, see Workspace npm dependencies.

If `@angular/localize` is not installed and you try to build a localized version of your project, the Angular CLI generates an error.

What's next

- Refer to locales by ID

@reviewed 2021-10-07