The `@angular/localize` package exposes the `$localize` function in the global namespace, which can be used to tag i18n messages in your code that needs to be translated.