Postman

For your convenience, we have a Postman collection that you can use to test your API endpoints as you build your app.

Running API tests locally

To locally run the provided Postman collection against your backend, follow instructions here.