Integrating with an API Backend

These tutorials will help you to integrate your app with an API backend running on another port, using `fetch()` to access it.

Node

Check out this tutorial. You can find the companion GitHub repository here.

Ruby on Rails

API Platform (PHP and Symfony)

API Platform is a framework designed to build API-driven projects. It allows creating hypermedia and GraphQL APIs in minutes. It is shipped with an official Progressive Web App generator as well as a dynamic administration interface, both built for Create React App. Check out this tutorial.

C# (ASP.NET Core)

ASP.NET Core has a React project template that uses Create React App. Check out their documentation.
