Equivalent to C's `unsigned int` type.

This type will almost always be [u32], but may differ on some esoteric systems. The C standard technically only requires that this type be an unsigned integer with the same size as an `int`; some systems define it as a [u16], for example.